

Lost and Found by TOM WILLIAMS

ISBN-10: 1-59507-211-X, ISBN-13: 978-159507-211-5

Two brilliant scientists pioneer a means of exploring for hidden oil reserves using satellite technology. However, they find a treasure worth much more than black gold—real gold, in every sunken treasure ship in the world's oceans. Together with a beautiful dive master and salvage expert, the treasures of antiquity are all there for the taking—if the adventuresome trio can just stay alive long enough, fleeing a madman from the exotic tropical waters of South Florida to the depths of the Black Sea in Europe.

Come along on an incredible adventure, around the world and to the bottom of the sea, to find what was once lost but is now found...

“A promising debut novel that combines a Pirates of the Caribbean flavor with 21st century technology. Perfect for sipping Piña Colodas on a tropical azure shoreline.”

Steve Alten

New York Times Bestselling author of MEG & THE SHELL GAME

“With treasure hunting, corporate back-stabbing and a sadomasochist on the heroes' heels, Lost and Found has everything you could ask for in a great thriller. It's a business meltdown that makes the story of Enron look tame.”

Brian Bandell

South Florida Business Journal

Tom Williams is a regular columnist and feature article writer for a series of Scripts newspapers in Southwest Florida. After having published hundreds of human interest, and culinary columns, Tom's well-rounded writing career includes articles in Paradise Magazine, Naples Daily News, The Marco Eagle and ETC: a special feature Sunday newspaper.

With the arrival of August 2008, Tom will be celebrating 23 years as a Master Merchant Marine Officer licensed by the United States Coast Guard. He is a well-traveled and veteran scuba diver specializing in shipwreck sites with a keen interest in deep-sea archeology.

Tom Williams resides on Marco Island, FL, with his wife Vicki Lynn and their three cats Lucy, Ethel, and Elvis.

Rating: [PG-13] Violence Words: 114,223
Pages: Hardcover 320 Pub Date: 9/1/2008

Price: Hardcover $27.99/£18.99

Order: www.archebooks.com, or (800) 358-8101

