Writing groups have played a valuable role for new voices in writing, to give peer-level critique and a sharing of knowledge and expertise. It is only fitting that the culmination of that service be the realization of their writing goals and aspirations."

ArcheBooks was formed in September 2003, as a wholly owned subsidiary of Gelinas & Wolf, Inc. G & W's business model was developed with the knowledge that the Internet and electronic messaging would continue to expand the creative boundaries previously assigned to traditional media publication. The principles, Bob Gelinas and Ralph Wolf, continue their revolutionary approach towards business development and their belief in the continuous evolving role the Internet plays in future business models.
